

COOKIES AND ONLINE PRIVACY STATEMENT

The Royal Artillery Centre for Personal Development (RACPD) is committed to protecting your privacy.

When you contact us or visit our website, your personal information is used, processed, stored & destroyed in compliance with the GDPR and its principals.

How we collect information

We collect personal information when you

- Register or enquire online through our website
- Complete a form or questionnaire
- Contact us by phone, post or email

In addition, information is automatically captured each time you visit our website. We use cookies (see below) and collect IP addresses (that can uniquely identify a specific computer or network device on the internet) to track visitors to our websites.

Email newsletter

If you choose to join our email newsletter, the email address that you submit to us will be forwarded to Mailchimp who provide us with email marketing services. Your email address will remain within MailChimp's database until you specifically request removal from the list or we no longer can offer you products and services that might be of interest to you. You can do this by unsubscribing using the unsubscribe links in any email newsletters that we send you or email info@racpd.org.uk using the email address that you wish to unsubscribe.

Links to other websites

Our website can contain links to other websites of interest. However, once you have used these links to leave our site, you should note that we do not have any control over that other website. Therefore, we are not responsible for the protection and privacy of any information which you provide whilst visiting such sites and such sites are not governed by this privacy policy.

Marketing

We will only contact or send information about the RACPD to those people who have given us permission to do so.

We will only provide information that is relevant to you.

Freedom of Information

More information about the Freedom of Information Act 2000, can be found at <https://ico.org.uk/for-organisations/guide-to-freedom-of-information/what-is-the-foi-act/>

About the cookies we use

We use cookies on our website. Cookies are small bits of data we store on the device you use to access the RACPD website so we can collect statistics relating to repeat users. Each cookie expires after a certain period of time, depending on what we use it for. By using RACPD's website, you expressly consent to the use of cookies.

Below we list and describe the various cookies used on our website.

Cookie Description	Purpose	More Information
Google Analytics	Used to collect information about how visitors use our site. We use the information to compile reports and to help us improve our services. The cookies collect information in an anonymous form, including the number of visitors to the site, the location of our visitors and the pages they visited.	Learn more about Google Analytics and privacy
Authentication	This cookie is set when you log into our website.
Unique ID	Long-term cookie we use to identify your browser in between different sessions.
Session ID	Helps us to maintain short-term state information about your browsing session.

We don't believe cookies are sinister, but you can still choose to remove or disable cookies via your browser. Refer to your web browser's configuration documentation to learn how to do this. Please note that doing this may adversely impact your ability to use our services. Enabling cookies ensures a smoother experience when using our website.

You can learn more about cookies here <http://www.aboutcookies.org/Default.aspx?page=1>

Social Networks

Our website provides you Social Plug-ins from various social networks. If you choose to interact with a social network, your activity on our website might also be made available to social networks such as Facebook and Twitter.

If you are logged on in one of the social networks during the visit on our website the social network might add this information to your profile. If you are interacting with one of the Social Plug-ins, this information will be transferred to the social network. In case you do not wish such a data transfer, please log off in your social network before you enter our website.

We cannot influence this data collection and data transfer via the Social Plug-ins. Please read the privacy policies of those social networks for detailed information about the collection and transfer of personal data, what rights you have and how you can achieve satisfactory privacy settings.
